Hi Andrea,

The rinsing station will serve us and our guests that use the pool as rinse off area and mainly for our two dogs as shower area so we don't have to take them in the house anymore when they get covered in sand and dirt. We thought it would be the perfect time to combine those two together. The structure will be open on the bottom to let air circulate through and will have no closed roof. The roof shown in the plans is a decorative carpentry element to match the modern farmhouse style of our house and will let air, rain... go through. We have not planned to include any other bathroom like elements since this structure should only be used for rinsing off us, the pets and pool toys.

The features of the rinsing station will include:

- 1-2 shower heads
- 1-2 hand shower heads to use for the dogs
- A bench to rest belongings, towels and products
- No toilet
- No sink
- Waterproof outlets
- Wall sconces
- Sliding barndoor
- Wood deck

I do hope I could provide a better understanding of the purpose of this structure. If any other questions appear, please let me know and I will try to answer them as best I can.
